

Trang Pham is the Executive Director of Venture Lab at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. Venture Lab's mission is to maximize the ability of our Penn students and alumni to address important challenges through entrepreneurship and entrepreneurial thinking. As Executive Director, Trang is managing Venture Lab's organizational transformation, collaboration with other Penn institutions, and integration of Penn's key entrepreneurship and innovation resources into Tangeen Hall, the new 68,000 square foot state-of-the-art facility for entrepreneurship. Prior to Venture Lab, Trang worked at FedTech where she helped fellow Wharton alumnus Jake Kramer (WG'17) set up and run a technology incubator that commercializes deep tech created in the government defense and aerospace labs. Her past experiences also include helping Fortune 100 companies, the US Government, and international development agencies build and launch new technology products and services around the world. Trang holds an MBA in entrepreneurial management from the Wharton School, as well as a B.A in economics and political science from Swarthmore College.
