

Amy Hsuan

Vice President of People and Strategy, Mixpanel

Amy Hsuan is the Vice President of People and Strategy at Mixpanel where she oversees the end-to-end employee experience from Recruiting to Learning & Development to Diversity & Inclusion and also advises on corporate strategy. Prior to this role, Amy spent seven years leading teams focused on innovation strategy at The Boston Consulting Group, helping companies to create and execute market-leading growth strategies.

Drawing from her diverse experience across industries, Amy has helped to build Mixpanel's award-winning culture, focusing on creating an inclusive, rewarding and impactful work environment where all employees can thrive.

Amy holds an MBA from the Wharton Business School and an MA in Journalism from the SI Newhouse School of Public Communications.

<https://www.comparably.com/news/the-case-for-change-an-interview-with-amy-hsuan-vp-of-people-strategy-at-mixpanel/>