Hi, this is David Steven Jacoby, class of 1989, French and Portuguese tracks. The Institute has given a lot to me in many ways over the years and has inspired me to fulfill my global ambitions. As we speak I am currently preparing to teach a graduate course that I created called Global Supply Chain

Decarbonization at NYU's Stern School of Business, which unites my industry and functional expertise with a passion for making the world a better place in a way that creates massive and widespread profit opportunities! I also teach at NYU's engineering grad school (Tandon) and am the Managing Director of Boston Strategies International, a strategy advisory firm specialized in supply chain management. I have two new books coming out soon: Getting to Net Zero: How to Decarbonize Business, and Supplychainification: Retooling the Economy for Digital and AI-Driven Supply Chains. A role on the board would allow me to ensure that the Institute continues to inspire the next generation of global business leaders. Programming, governance and fundraising responsibilities would be good uses of my skills and network.
