

Andre Soresini
General Manager,
Southern Cone Latin America, Sanofi Pasteur

Andre is a 2011 graduate MBA/MA from The Wharton School / Lauder Institute (German track), awarded a prize as best thesis of the year for his case to generate energy in space, which he wrote with the support of NASA. His background is in Aeronautical Engineering, with 7 years of innovation expertise in the aerospace industry (at Rolls-Royce jet engines and Airbus, both in Germany). Post-MBA, Andre had experiences at Apple, Inc. in the USA, and Bain&Co in Brazil.

Andre joined Sanofi in 2013 as Chief of Staff of Brazil's General Manager. In 2014 he moved to Germany to the Business Development department of medical devices, and in June 2014 he joined the CEO office based in Paris leading Emerging Markets strategy for the General Medicines division. From 2016 Andre became the General Manager of Sanofi's vaccines business unit for the Pacific, Central America and the Caribbean, managing the business in 22 countries in Latin America based in Panama. Since March 2020 he was appointed as General Manager for Sanofi's vaccines business unit in the South Cone of Latin America, based in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Married with 2 children, Andre enjoys spending time with family, fishing, doing puzzles, traveling and learning languages.