I have been working in the life sciences and venture capital industries for most of my career since Wharton/Lauder. Besides living and working in Tokyo, Japan for 7 years, I also lived in Singapore, post-Lauder, and spent considerable time in China, HK, Taiwan, Korea and other countries in S.E. Asia. I have also recently completed a two-year course in Spiritual Psychology, from the University of Santa Monica in Los Angeles, which brings deeper meaning to the words, "Lauder Love."

I have been a CEO of four organizations, and have recently founded Journey Life Sciences, a company focused on the development and commercialization of psychedelic medicines for the treatment of chronic pain. Since 2006 I have been a member of Young Presidents Organization serving as Chapter Chairman, YPO Coastal San Diego, Board member of the YPO Deal Network and currently serving on the Boards of the YPO Healthcare Business Network and YPO Investing Network.

My vision for working with the LIAA board is to identify and implement additional programming that connects members of LIAA in authentic and meaningful ways. My observation of our community is that many are seeking next steps in their career and are underutilized in their current capacities. I would like to find ways to better network our community and enable us all to best use our rich and deep talents to the fullest. I also had a profound experience at our recent NYC gathering, meeting many current students all of whom were seeking career advice. That experience lead me to believe that there is a need to connect experienced Lauder grads, with currently enrolled students in providing career advice and counseling

Kind regards,

Greg
