

Narges Zamani

Ms. Narges Zamani serves as Chief Investment Officer for Pactolus Capital Partners, delivering integrated investment management expertise to select family offices. She oversees the diligence, negotiation and execution of private investment opportunities as well as client asset allocation and portfolio management, investment manager selection and client portfolio performance reviews.

Prior to that, Ms. Zamani was the Managing Director of the George Washington University Endowment, responsible for implementing a comprehensive risk management framework across all asset classes that identifies risk-reward tradeoffs and is part of the overall decision-making process. She has over 18 years of investment experience in emerging markets. Prior to joining GW, Ms. Zamani served as a Managing Director at Alfa Capital Partner, as part of the divestment team of the AIG Asian Infrastructure Fund at Emerging Markets Partnership (now EMP Global) and client relations at JP Morgan in London. She began her career in project finance at The Bank of Tokyo in Tokyo.

Ms. Zamani earned a Masters of Business Administration (M.B.A.) in finance from The Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania and a Masters of International Studies from The Lauder Institute of Management and a BSc Honors in Biology from Queens University, Canada. She holds the Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) designation and is a member of the CFA Institute and the CFA Society of Washington, DC along with a Professional Risk Management, (PRM). She participates on the Investment Committee for POB Capital Fund, a real estate fund, Chair of Advisory Board of Enquire AI and Acansa Investment Management Group. Past President of the Wharton Club of National Capital Region.